

OXFORD DEMOCRAT.

PARIS, SEPTEMBER 19, 1843.

"The great popular party is already falling almost en masse around the banner which is leading the party to its final triumph. The few that still lag will soon be rallied under its ample folds. On that banner is inscribed: FREE TRADE; LOW DUTIES; NO DEBT; SEPARATION FROM BANKS; ECONOMY; RETRENCHMENT; AND STRICT ADHERENCE TO THE CONSTITUTION. Victory in such a cause will be great and glorious; and if its principles be faithfully and bravely adhered to, after it is achieved, much will be redound to the honor of those by whom it will have been won; and long will it perpetuate the liberty and prosperity of the country."—Cathoon.

FOR PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES.

JOHN C. CALHOUN.

Subject to the decision of a National Convention.

ELECTION RETURNS.

The following towns in this County are the only ones we have heard from on the gubernatorial question; and from some of these we have not the entire vote, Abolition, Scattering, &c.

	Anderson.	Robinson.	Appleton.	Scattering.
Paris,	276	48	30	4

The vote for Representative to Congress, so far as heard from in Oxford part of the District, stands as follows:—

	Andrews.	Morse.	Scat.
Paris,	142	48	168
Buckfield,	95	55	91
Sumner,	94	17	54
Turner,	122	137	148
Woodstock,	53	2	79
Hartford,	89	39	81

Canton,	109	15	30
Andover,	64	62	5
Rumford,	85	113	31
Livermore,	85	190	64
	1042	685	797

19 towns from Lincoln have been heard from.—They give for Gov., Anderson 1605; Robinson 1913; Kavanagh 717; Scattering 258.

The vote for Representative to Congress falls somewhat of the vote for Anderson and Kavanagh. It is not known how much. The Rep. to Congress, it is said, will receive a very small majority in Lincoln over Morse and scattering. If he should not receive as many as 200, or more, it is pretty certain there is no election. The Democratic candidates for Senators are said to be elected.

The majority against Anderson, as far as heard from, is 2272. The returns next week will change this result in favor of Anderson. It is thought, however, there is no choice of Governor.

House. Not more than half the Representatives are elected. The majority of those who are elected are Democrats.

In the Senate—there will be a Democratic majority. In several Districts there is no choice. In consequence of the state of the gubernatorial question every effort should be made to secure Democratic Representatives where there is no choice.

THE PRESIDENCY.

We consider it very unnecessary, as well as unwise, to give currency to fears of division in our own ranks in regard to this question. We can see only one object that can be had in view by those who thus circulate their fears. And that object is to silence discussion—to muzzle the press, and prevent the question from being examined in all its bearings.

Truth should be told in this matter as well as in other matters. It should have its weight. If it cannot be spoken, without division being a consequence, there is not sufficient virtue and cohesiveness in our principles to keep the party together, and it is time that divisions should arise and distract it. We mean to tell the truth about this question, as we have done heretofore, and do all we can to carry out the views of our County and District. We mean to be good natured about it; and do not wish to provoke any ill-will. We intend to abide by the decision of the National Convention; and if in the discussion of the question we should say things unfavorable to the nominee, and, at the same time, tell the truth, we do not expect to be gagged for so doing; nor shall we be wanting in our allegiance to our principles, or in the cordial support of our cause and the man who is nominated, when the decision of the Convention is made. We shall come right up to the work, though all the South would bolt. We shall go for Van Buren, if he is the nominee, and support him with every energy; but we are frank to say he is not our first choice. Our brethren need not feel alarmed at the truth. They need not fear division. Speaking relieves people on some occasions, and it may relieve many from a bad predicament hereafter, should they speak their minds freely on this subject.

How shall the Delegates vote in the National Convention?

This is a question of some moment, and is being discussed by many of the best heads in the country. It is the well settled opinion on all hands that the Delegates should be chosen by Districts, in the same manner as Delegates have been chosen in Maine, Vermont, &c.

Now the question is, shall these Delegates vote individually, or shall they vote by States?

If each Delegate votes individually in the Convention, this State would cast two votes for Calhoun. But if by States, the Delegates from this State would meet in Caucus and decide who was the first choice of the majority; and whoever that choice should fall upon would receive all the votes of the State.

We consider the former mode the correct one. It is just and right. The latter would be unjust and unequal, and would nullify the necessity of choosing Delegates by Districts, and entirely suppress the opinion of particular Districts.

WINGED PIGEONS.

It is rare sport to see the sensation that an announcement of a new removal or appointment makes in this city. Jokes fly back and forth like hail. Faces then are worth the study of a philosopher, and Lavater rises a hundred percent, in the popular estimation. Take that flock of office holders, into which the fact that Hon. John Anderson is appointed Collector has just been fixed. 'A' looks grave, does not attempt to conceal his disappointment, but braces himself up to die with dignity. 'B' laughs loudly; but there is no mirth in it. It sounds like sharp taps on a cracked drum. 'C' manages much better, and apparently cares not a whit. 'D' takes time by the forelock, edges up to somebody who, he thinks, has influence with the new officer, and makes strong protestations of democracy. 'E' is glad of the appointment—is a democrat himself—should like to stay in the office—thinks as he is of the right way of thinking that he had better not be removed—can bring strength to the democratic party. 'F' finding there is no hope blazes away at John Tyler—the Advertiser openly—curses the 'loco-focos'—and says by every action, 'Who's afraid?' While all this is going on, the wits generally rejoice—some for one reason, some for another. At every removal that comes, congratulation are exchanged among them. This is the unkindest cut of all, and well may the removed exclaim, as they look upon their old friends, with the deepest melancholy, 'Et tu Brute!'

But it is the fortune of war, gentlemen. You have had more than you deserve for your Oglelies, your gross fraud, your hard cider, and harder pipe laying. So get that stone house with the eagle on it, ready. Square your accounts, and pull on your over-coat.

P. S. There is a room in the Exchange which will be wanted by some of our friends in a few days. Just get it nicely swept and garnished, and the pigeon holes well dusted.—American.

A PROMPT REPLY. An Arabian philosopher was once at the Court of a certain King, who was as much distinguished for his injustice as his despotism. The King, agreeably to his character, was desirous of irritating the sage by some of his insults. To this end positively affirmed, that in the infernal regions was a mill for grinding the heads of the learned, and then demanded if it were not so. He in his turn, replied, with a firmness and dignity worthy of the highest eulogium—'Yes! but it is the blood of tyrants that makes the mill turn.'

Domestic Transcendentalism. Folks don't go to bed now—days—they retire. Nobody eats their dinner—people take some refreshment. Nobody goes to church—but people attend divine service.—There is no Sunday—it is Sabbath. No one gets his tooth pulled out—he has it extracted.

THE OREGON.—Sir Robert Peel stated, in answer to an inquiry on the subject, that he was led to presume that the American minister in London had received instructions to negotiate; he was sure that such negotiations would soon be commenced. Friendly dispositions animated both parties.

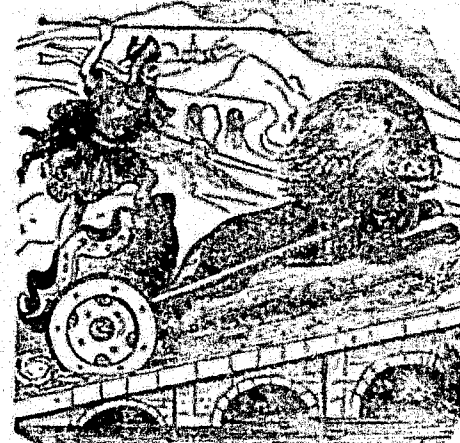

CALHOUN IN THE WEST. The Columbus Times, a Democratic paper, published in Ohio, has printed the Calhoun flag.

A SKELETON FOUND.—A human skeleton was found in the woods in Upper Middleton, Ct., a few days since. It appeared to be that of a woman above middle height, 50 years old or upwards, who had been dead several years.

"Top your jaw dare," said Cuffie to two companions who were wrangling, "top you jaw, or your will be as big blackguards as de Congress men."

WELLERISMS.—"Astonishing cure for consumption," as the old lady said, when she sprinkled snuff on the victims of her boarders. "I'll let you of this time," as the horse said, when he capsize his rider in the mud. "I won't be trod upon with impunity," as the steal trap said to the fox. "Take your time," as the man said when he returned a borrowed watch.

EXCHANGE WOOL, for which a fair price will be paid.— 3 1843.

To the Honorable County Commissioners of the Counties of Kennebec and Oxford.

WE, the undersigned, would respectfully represent to your Honors that the road leading from the village of Dixfield Village in Augusta by Wayne Village is much travelled, especially by loaded teams, we would further represent that said road is circuitous and has some bad hills between Canton Point (so called) and Wayne Village, and that an alteration may be made so as to save more than one thousand rods between the two points, said Canton and Wayne, and more than three hundred feet in hills, and we fully believe that the public good requires that an alteration should be made in the same. We would therefore petition your Honors to lay out a new road from said Wayne Village, in Kennebec, to Canton, in Oxford, so as to convene the travel on both sides of the river at the Point ferry, and (on the West side) near David Austin's in said Canton, or make such alterations in the roads as now travelled between said points as will in your opinion be most beneficial and expedient for public utility, and in duty bound will ever pray,

CHARLES H. STUBBS & 113 others.

To the Honorable County Commissioners for Oxford County, at their session to be holden at Paris on the first Tuesday of September, A. D. 1843.

THE undersigned would respectfully represent that the County road as now travelled from Dixfield by Canton Point & Stone's Corner in Livermore to Hillman's Ferry is very filthy, rough, and tedious to the public whose business may call them to travel said road, and that all attempts hitherto made at improving the same have in some important parts proved abortive, we therefore request your Honors to examine said road and make all the necessary alterations and locate all the new road connected with said route, that the public good and common convenience may require, commencing near the dwelling house of Asa Austin in Canton, thence in a Southern direction West of the hill (over which the road is now travelled) so as to intersect the present travel near the house of Thomas Bragby, thence commencing at Canton Point Ferry or at any and all other points on said road that your Honors may deem proper, passing near the dwelling house of Jeremiah Stevens in Livermore and Stone's Corner in the best route to said Hillman's Ferry—and as in duty bound will ever pray,
